AFRO-CUBAN JAZZ · CONTEMPORARY IMPROVISATION · LIVE

*Three voices. One language.
Rooted in Havana, refined by the world.*

THE PROJECT

Afro-Cuban Jazz in Three Voices

Karma Trio is a meeting of three distinct musical worlds — Cuban roots, Mediterranean lyricism, and Latin virtuosity — channelled through the shared language of jazz improvisation. Built around the interplay of double bass, guitar, and drums and percussion, the trio explores the ancestral rhythmic vocabulary of son cubano, rumba and changüí alongside original compositions that push that tradition into contemporary territory.

The name Karma reflects the trio's core conviction: that the music you have received shapes the music you give back. Drawing on the deep wells of Afro-Cuban tradition — from the innovations of Cachao and Frank Emilio Flynn to the fire of Irakere and Celia Cruz — and filtered through each musician's individual journey across Havana, Tel Aviv, Warsaw and beyond, Karma Trio presents a programme both deeply rooted and entirely of the present moment.

"At the heart of this sonic journey is an artist of instinctive innovation and boundless curiosity — crafting a musical tapestry as nuanced as it is compelling. A radiant fusion where harmony, melody, and rhythm unfold with poetic elegance."
